

“Box #2” Inbounds Play

This “Box #2” Inbounds play is very popular at all youth basketball levels. I used it with younger AAU players, and also with my high school team. A very good quick hitter that gives your best shooter the opportunity for a quick score. Once you get Box #2 down, don't forget to teach your players Box #3. Check it out...

Part a): On the signal from 1 (“break”), the 5 and the 3 pop out to the wing areas, and the 2 sets an “up” screen for the 4. 2 goes high after the screen, and 4 flashes low to the block area. The 1 passes to the 5, and steps into the block area. The 5 immediately passes to the 3 and...

The 1 should pop out quickly and be ready to take the shot!

Part b): After the 5 passes to the 3, the 5 sets a screen for the 1 at the block area, and 1 pops out to the wing area. The 3 should make a good pass fake to the 2, then pass to the 1 in the wing area. The 1 should take the shot (this player should be your best shooter. 2 stays up high as the “safety” player.
